DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 3-8, 10, 11, 13, 14 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Farrell et al. Farrell is cited showing a double-sided rack system having tracks 22 supporting storage units 32 with shelves 16 and partitions 18 to form cells and a drive mechanism, see col. 5, lines 48-50. Farrell discloses that commercial mobile storage systems are typically made from metal. It is inherent that a metal shelving system would be grounded. The recitation of a newly discovered function or property inherently possessed by things in the prior art does not cause a claim drawn to these things to distinguish over the prior art. The PTO may require the applicant to prove that the prior art does not possess the characteristics relied on. In re Swinehart and Sfiligoj 169 USPQ 226 (1971).

Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 3637

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 3, 4, 6-8, 10, 11, 13 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Farrell et al as applied to claims above, and further in view of Spitzer et al. Farrell fails to show sloped shelves. Spitzer is cited disclosing a mobile rack shelves 125 sloped to prevent cargo spillage. The angle of the shelves is considered an obvious matter of design choice for one having an ordinary skill in the art. Since the references are from the same field of endeavor the purpose of Spitzer would have been obvious in the pertinent art of Farrell at the time of the invention it would have been obvious for one having an ordinary skill in the art to have modified Farrell with shelves sloped to prevent cargo spillage in view of Spitzer.

This action is not final.
